

The changes we made to our software design document are as follows:

- Added the Context Diagram to the Project Overview
- Created a Product Backlog with remaining tasks
- Expanded the “Architectural Overview” section to discuss how our project incorporates component-based architecture.
- Updated “Subsystem Architecture” to discuss in greater detail the specific methods and functions that make our project function